Soviet Guns On The Banks of Khalka

TOKYO, July 10.—(INS).—Before Japanese tank, artillery, aerial, and infantry onslaughts, the Soviet "invaders" of Manchukuo in the vicinity of Lake Buir have been routed and are falling southward rapidly, field dispatches said today.

The Japanese-Manchukuo army is in sight of its objectives, "war" bulletins said, and the outer Mongolian frontier will be secure in two days.

After a seven-day fight, the Soviet-Mongolian troops have dropped in general retreat below the Khalka River. Badly battered by Japanese guns, said advices from the front, the Soviets lost Noro and Balshagal Heights.

The Japanese won their most important advantage when their aircraft silenced Soviet guns, located on the south bank of the Khalka, which had been holding up the Nipponese advance.

One hundred Soviet tanks were disabled, the field dispatches asserted.

Messages from Hsinking, Manchukuo, reported another overwhelming Japanese aerial victory. They asserted that Japanese airmen, losing only one plane, shot down 28 Soviet craft in the Lake Buir sector.

TOKYO, July 10.—Japanese forces shot down 59 additional Soviet and outer Mongolian airplanes in routing Soviet "invaders" of Manchukuo, in the vicinity of Lake Buir, an official Japanese military announcement stated today.

The planes were downed in a terrific aerial battle over the Khalka River, following which Soviet-Mongolian forces were driven out of the delta between the Holsten and Khalka River, the announcement said.

More than 50 tanks and armed cars, as well as many guns and large supplies of ammunition were captured by the Japanese, it was asserted. Despite heavy casualties, one thousand Soviet-Mongolian sharpshooters with four tanks and 100 armored cars, succeeded in fleeing across the west bank of the Khalka.

DeAngelo-Juno Wedding
Is Solemnized Saturday

In St. Ann's Catholic Church a wedding occurred Saturday at three p. m. when Miss Florence Juno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Juno, 430 Jefferson avenue, became the bride of Ralph DeAngelo, son of Mrs. Margaret DeAngelo, 411 Dorrance street. The Rev. Peter Pinci officiated. Miss Frances Tamburella played the wedding march, and the choir girls sang "Ave Maria."

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Jennie DiBlassio, 345 Penn street, and the bridesmaids were Miss Mary DeAngelo, 411 Dorrance street, sister of the groom; Miss Rose Fazio, and Miss Sarah Pugliese, Philadelphia. Theresa Juno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Juno, 442 Lafayette street, and niece of the bride, was flower girl. Serving the groom as best man was Anthony DiBlassio, 345 Penn street, and the ushers were Nicholas Guierini, 1032 Elm street, and Silvio Moscufo, Frankford.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white embroidered organza. The skirt was cut full with a train. Her bridal veil of tulle with face veil was nine yards in length, and had a crown of pearls and rhinestones, and she wore white sandals and carried white lilies.

The maid of honor was attractive in embroidered net over taffeta made jacket effect. Velvet ribbon in American Beauty tone, encircled her waistline. She wore aqua tone slippers, a Leghorn hat trimmed with American Beauty velvet and carried American Beauty roses. Miss DeAngelo wore peach embroidered net over taffeta, trimmed with American Beauty velvet, peach slippers and a leghorn hat with velvet ribbon, and carried American Beauty roses. Miss Fazio and Miss Pugliese were attired in peach marquisette. The skirts were long and full and the waistlines were encircled with American Beauty velvet. Leghorn hats with velvet trimming were worn and each carried American Beauty roses.

The flower girl was attractive in a Colonial style dress of pink net over taffeta. Ruffles finished the long skirt and sleeves and blue velvet ribbon encircled her waistline. She wore a pink poke bonnet trimmed with blue velvet, white slippers, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

A reception followed in St. Ann's Hall, 400 attending. The couple left Saturday evening for New York City and Providence, R. I., for one week. The bride travelled in a white dress and matching accessories. Mr. and Mrs. DeAngelo will reside at the home of the groom.

Two Automobiles Are Abandoned By Drivers

When the automobiles of James Giglio, 409 Washington street, and John Barlow, 7703 Cottage street, Holmesburg, crashed early last evening at Williams and Ford Roads, Bristol Township, the former sustained a contused wound of the left side. Treatment was given in Harriman Hospital.

A Boy Scout, Harry Feulner, 14, of 6617 Hagerman street, Tacony, suffered a head injury when struck by an automobile early yesterday morning, on Farragut avenue. He is being treated in Harriman Hospital. The lad accompanied a group of Scouts on a camping trip, the party hiking at night in order to reach their destination early Sunday morning.

TWO WINS SCORED BY

Score 10-9

DEFEAT MOUNT HOLLY

Landreth Seeds defeated the Germantown Cardinals of the Philadelphia League in a twilight game Saturday 10-9 and yesterday blanked the Mt. Holly club 9-0, for their sixth straight victory, making their season's record so far fourteen wins, six defeats and two ties. Both games were played at Landreth Ball Park.

Saturday's affair was the wierdest ever played at the local park, the two teams making seventeen errors. The game was a see-saw affair with the score being tied by the visitors three times. The Farmers won out in the ninth inning, when Miksis singled to left field and continued to second when Schmidt fumbled, Dougherty sacrificed him to third and he scored the winning run as Edwards fumbled Griggs hard grounder between first and second.

Lodge's homer came in the opening inning and scored three runs—Costello was on second as a result of a base on balls and Liberatore had reached first when Weinrath made a wild throw of his intended sacrifice bunt.

Yesterday afternoon the Seeds backed Lonnie Heister's six hit pitching with brilliant and errorless fielding, result being Mt. Holly was shut out with only two of the visiting players reaching second base.

The offerings of Art Eckert, late of the Dover Eastern Shore League team were combed for eleven hits—all singles which with seven errors the Farmers had no trouble scoring nine runs. The fielding of Burns for Mt. Holly, Miksis, with two nice running catches and twice fast double plays by Costello, Liberatore and Griggs, were fielding features for Landreth. Broderick had three hits.

Manager Landreth who in his younger days was no novice around the initial sack, replaced Griggs in the ninth inning. He made the last three

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

Announcement has been made by Ralph Crowell, president, that the Bucks County Fruit Growers' Association will meet today at three o'clock d. s. t., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Paxson, "Fairview Orchards," Lumberville.

During the afternoon the fruit growers and their guests will inspect the orchards and a new storage house. There will also be informal discussions.

Between the afternoon session and the meeting scheduled for the evening, the fruit growers will enjoy a box supper.

President Crowell announced that fruit growers of Montgomery county will be included among the guests of the Bucks group.

After the supper, Charles K. Halliwell, County Agent of Philadelphia county, who is well known in Bucks county, will discuss the problems of the Philadelphia wholesale markets and report on the progress that has been made.

Announcement was also made of the annual tour of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Association which will be made August 1 and 2.

Election of two new teachers, both of them college graduates, and the decision to reduce the school district's debt took place at the monthly meeting of the Quakertown School Board.

John Knoll, Montgomeryville, a graduate of Lansdale and Ursinus College, was elected to teach mathematics and vocational relative subjects and to serve as head football coach. Mr. Knoll, who has been doing substitute teaching in Lansdale High School and who was graduated from Ursinus in 1938, will succeed Jacob L. Stoneback, who has retired from teaching to enable him to devote all of his time to business.

The other teacher elected was John Griffiths, Stroudsburg, who was graduated from Lafayette College, Easton, last month. As a successor to Miss Marjorie Smith, who will teach in the Ambler High School, Mr. Griffiths will teach French and Latin.

It was decided by the board to reduce the debt to the extent of $8000. It was possible during the past year to remain within the budget, and in addition to decreasing the debt the board during the year paid $10,000 to the sinking fund toward the retirement of the bonds.

HARRISBURG, July 10.—School boards and municipal governments are becoming interested in landscape beautification and development to an extent that the division of the Department of Internal Affairs in charge of this type of work is unable, through lack of man-power, to keep up with demands. Secretary William S. Livengood, Jr., said today, summing up these activities for the fiscal year just closed.

Secretary Livengood said every effort is made to prevent the landscaping division from entering into competition with private enterprise and that for the most part the work of his Department had been in behalf of local sub-division with insufficient funds to hire professional help. On the other hand, he pointed out, purchase of trees, shrubbery, etc., as a result of the plans had benefited

Two Injured in Motor
Accidents On Sunday

Drivers of two automobiles abandoned the cars when accidents occurred during the night, one machine being left on Newportville Road, near Croydon; and another on the Holland Road.

The machine found near Croydon, a sedan, had upset, and was discovered at 12:45 this morning. It bore a Pennsylvania license, which Private Harris, of Oxford Valley barracks, checked. The owner stated he had loaned the machine to a friend. Slight damage was done to the car.

A Philadelphia's car which had struck an abutment on Holland Road, was found at 9:30 last evening.

Septicemia Causes Death
Of Eleanor Sottung, 11

CROYDON, July 10.—Septicemia caused the death of a Croydon girl, Eleanor Sottung, on her 11th birthday anniversary.

The child, who died in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, late Saturday night, had been ill but one week. She was the daughter of Elmer and Catherine Sottung, Logan avenue, and was a pupil at St. Thomas Aquinas school.

The funeral is arranged for Wednesday at 8:30 a. m. from the Sottung home, with solemn high mass of requiem at 10 o'clock, in St. Thomas Aquinas Church. Burial in Hillside Cemetery, Roslyn, will be in charge of Harold H. Haefner, funeral director, Cornwells Heights. Friends may call Tuesday evening.

Promise Cooling Showers

Phila., July 10.—Cooling breezes and showers by midnight, the weather man promised today, will bring relief to the Philadelphia area from the oppressive heat wave which claimed four lives, Sunday.

Heart attacks induced by temperatures hovering about the 90 mark were responsible for four deaths, doctors reported.

The victims were: Jacob F. Hoehring, 72, a tool maker; Louis Manloff, 55, an insurance agent; James H. Blampich, 87, a farmer, and Dante Del Grasso, a watch maker, all of this city.

Making the heat more unbearable, the humidity rose above 80%—20 beyond the "uncomfortable" stage.

A fire yesterday afternoon destroyed a two-car frame garage and its contents of some furniture in Bensalem Township. The property, owned by Theodore Spear, and rented by Howard Funk, was located on Bristol Road, near Hulmeville Road.

No one was at home when the blaze occurred, and it had gained such headway that the frame structure was a total loss, estimate being $300.

Firemen from Hulmeville, Newport Terrace, and Cornwells Heights Companies, No. 1, answered the alarm.

It is believed the building became ignited from a bon-fire near the garage.

BENSALEM SCHOOL
SYSTEM RETIRES
DEBT OF $41,000

Committee of Directors Witnesses The Burning of Matured Bonds

ANNUAL SESSION

Represents $15,000 of 1926
Issue, $26,000 for High School

CORNWELLS Heights, July 10.—Forty-one thousand dollars of the total bonded indebtedness of the Bensalem Township School system was retired from the books when the Board of School Directors met at the annual meeting at the high school here on Saturday.

The sum represented $15,000 of the 1926 issue, used to build an addition to the Cornwells School. The remaining $26,000 is from the issue of 1929, when the high school was built.

A committee of the Board, consisting of William Abel, L. L. Williams, and Oscar Schreiber, witnessed the burning of the matured bonds.

As a result of the election of officers held at the meeting, Charles Meisinger became the new president of the school board, succeeding Oscar Schreiber. Joseph Sharpe assumed his new duties of vice-president, and Oscar Schreiber, elected in May, assumed his new duties as treasurer. President Meisinger re-appointed all existing committees for the new year.

Several reports were made and final business cleaned up at the meeting. Retiring treasurer, William Abel, reported a tax collection of $65,216.94 for the year, from a total tax duplicate of $84,000. Because of the $18,000 in unpaid taxes the Board had difficulty in meeting the budget at times.

Secretary L. L. Williams presented the tax duplicate for the new year, showing a taxable assessment of $4,329,988, with 3423 the total number of taxables. Of the total taxables there are 964 residents, 755 tenants, 1455 women and 249 single men.

Joseph Sharpe, chairman of the cafeteria committee, reported a profit for the year from the cafeteria of $147.

J. Hamilton Bushnell, bus driver, was awarded a three-year contract to continue carrying students to and from school. Bushnell expects to purchase at least one new bus for the coming year. There were 437 children transported daily last year.

The resignation of Raymond Watkins, music supervisor, was accepted by the Board. Miss Grace Faiste, an elementary teacher in the Bensalem School system for the past four years, was named by the Board to succeed Watkins.

The secretary reported that the auditors had audited the books and found everything in perfect condition. The cafeteria accounts were also audited and found in order.

Dr. A. L. MacKenzie, Eddington, was re-appointed medical inspector for the new school year. Miss Cecelia Snyder was appointed as the census enumerator.

Superintendent of Schools S. K. Faust presented the calendar for the next school term, and it was authorized by the Board. School will start on September 7th and close on June 5th, 1940. The superintendent's report on athletic activities for the past year indicated a profit on all sports of $53.06.

Reporting for the school nurse, S. K. Faust read that 751 home visits for children had been made; 52 parent consultations held at the school; 14 children taken to clinics; 169 Schick tests given; and 94 toxin-antitoxin tests made.

In his attendance report, Mr. Faust stated that more than 1300 students are expected in Bensalem Township schools next year. The percentage of attendance for the year was given as 94 per cent.

Howard J. James, Esq., was appointed by the School Board to act as the solicitor for 1939-40.

The Torresdale Coal Company was awarded the contract for supplying coal for the schools for 1939-40, being low bidder.

The list of repairs and minor improvements to the different schools was left in the hands of the building and grounds committee, and these repairs will be completed before school opens in the Fall.

Catholic Boys Win
Over Florence Team

Yesterday afternoon on Wood's Memorial field, the Catholic Boys' Club won over a strong team from Florence, N. J.

The game was closely contested throughout, with sensational fielding and timely hitting by both clubs.

Joe Cahill, stellar fielder of the Boys' Club, stopped a rally in the eighth inning when with two runs in, two out and the bases loaded, he made a beautiful running back-hand catch deep to left field.

DANGER IN CHINA

Berlin and Rome, and London, Paris and Washington—Hitler and Mussolini, as well as Chamberlain, Daladier and Roosevelt—have their eyes on the British-Japanese clash at Tientsin and Amoy. The spark may be struck in China to explode world-shaking dynamite.

Japan, after lately suffering heavy losses in the Chinese interior, has moved to take mastery of the foreign concessions still held in China, mainly British and French. The first Japanese demands, when starting the blockades, turn out to have been mere pretexts.

From the military commands in China, whose dominance at Tokyo thus far has been complete, the demands call for withdrawal of British aid in money and munitions to Chiang Kai-Shek and for Japanese "dominance of all the foreign concessions in China."

"Get out!" is the substance.

News columns have reviewed the long story of China's grants of the foreign concessions, making them, for all practical purposes, foreign territory. The possibility of American involvement now becomes the first American concern.

The position and record of the United States on the concessions is apart and distinct from the British and French. While we have large and legitimate Chinese interests, the American case as to the concessions is not all fours with the British. The assertion of United States rights will properly stop much short of an assertion undertaking to protect all that Great Britain desires to protect.

THE EFFICIENT FISHERMAN

A good idea often comes to a man when he sits in a boat holding a line and waiting for the fish to bite.

The man who relates the following story likes to fish, and after long observation he has come to the conclusion that there is a definite relation between a good fisherman and a good salesman.

"A good fisherman," he says, "first sizes up his territory. He picks out a place where, on the law of averages, the fish he wants to catch should be. He takes into consideration the depth, the character of the bottom, the size of the hook and the bait. Having made up his mind that fish should be in this place, he casts his line and waits. He will wait one hour—two hours—without a nibble, because he knows that if his judgment is right his patience will be rewarded."

"The other type of fisherman will have his line out before he is ten minutes from shore. If he does not get a bite in two minutes he will move on. He throws out his line anywhere and everywhere. He thrashes around in the boat, changes hooks, switches bait, spits on the bait and wears himself out generally."

"On a certain day the latter may catch more fish than the former, or neither may catch any fish, but on the law of averages the first will be more successful, and with far less expenditure of energy."

At long last Hitler tells the inside of the Spanish adventure. It was once said of an earlier German chancellor that he was such a complete liar that when he spoke, one couldn't believe the truth of his opposite.

Let Britain be warned! It is proverbial that the road to hell is paved with good in Tientsin.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Dec. 13, 1877. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The following items are culled from the issue of The Bucks County Gazette of December 13, 1877:

The barn of Mrs. Mary Burgess, near Morrisville, was burned on Saturday night last. Considerable crops were consumed with it, also live stock, horses and calves. While the fire was in progress, corn was taken from the premises. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

A bill will be presented at the next session of the Legislature for the repeal of the act entitled "An act for the establishing of a Law Library in Bucks County," approved May 6th, 1871. This repeal should be granted for several reasons, one being that the citizens of other parts of the county should not be taxed to furnish a library of no use except to lawyers, and especially when it will benefit none of that profession but those residing in Doylestown.

At a meeting of Council on Monday evening, the Street Committee reported that it would cost $150 to put a sewer under the canal basin to drain the meadow, but further information being desired the committee was ordered to report at the next meeting. The nuisance committee did not find pig-pens in the town nuisance enough to enable them to agree upon any recommendation regarding complaints in this particular. The Charles Johns case, relating to property being over-flooded with water, was referred back to the street committee with instructions to seek the advice of corporation counsel. A crossing was ordered on MH street, between Cedar and Wood streets. The claim of the borough against the Vanhorn estate was settled by agreeing to William Kinsey's offer to pay $50; and at Jefferson avenue and the railroad crossing a lamp was ordered to be placed.

James Roberts, engineer of the "Ellwood Dorian," fell between the ferry slip and the boat at Burlington last Thursday evening and was saved from drowning only with great difficulty. He had gone ashore, leaving the boat close up to the wharf, but during his absence she had been moved out a short distance, and upon returning, not supposing the position had been changed, he walked right off the slip overboard.

E. L. and H. B. Banes have been adding quite extensively to the machinery in their machine shop. Their new patterns of small, upright engines, excite favorable comment by all who examine them. The one in the Gazette office is the first of the kind built by this enterprising firm.

George Cramer was so unfortunate as to cut the end of his fingers of his right hand off, and almost severed two others while at work at the jointing machine at Doran's planing mill, yesterday afternoon. His physician thinks that the two fingers not entirely cut off will grow together again all right.

Rev. John C. Brooks has tendered his resignation as pastor of St. James' Church.

POINT PLEASANT—Last Saturday afternoon the farm of Joel Bradshaw was sold to Henry F. Myers for the sum of $6,500.

The new house being built by Rev. George Young is fast nearing completion, and when finished will present a fine appearance.

LANGHORNE—A few interested persons met at Bellevue on Tuesday, last, and decided to organize a society for the relief of the destitute during the coming season, and practical effort will be made at once.

The rising star in the musical firmament of Bristol, made his debut at Cabeen's Hall, Tuesday evening last. This basso profundo spells his name thus: Asher Conn, Jr.

Three years ago from last Monday, Joseph Quinby Bloomsbough raised the stars and stripes to the top of the stand pipe, thus proclaiming to all the world around that the Delaware had been tapped to supply the town with water.

A foot race between William Appleton and Harry Benders, last Saturday, attracted quite a crowd to Jefferson avenue. Appleton was the winner.

Territory of Alaska when she passes on.

"I had to wait until I was 65 years old until I got in the movies," she continued. "The movie men have been here for the past few days, including me in pictures of Alaska." This one whose collection of big game is valued at $16,000, wears a necklace of gold nuggets worth over $300, presented to her by "old timers" for saving the life of a mail-carrier during a severe snow-storm years ago. Nellie told of the experience of she and her dogs in that storm and of the second search in order to get the mail which had been practically buried under the snow with the mail-carrier, mentioning that the mail also contained $10,000 in gold. As she rode down the valley on the train with us, being anxious to bid the publishers and their party adieu at the port of Seward, she was the center of attention. Twice has she been appointed postmistress at Lawing, which station is named for her late husband; and she is likewise a notary public. Nellie told of the book she is now writing, and dedicating to the memory of her husband, and told that her motto is "If you can't swim out, keep kickin' around." She told her listeners of the old sour-loughs of the district, then recited "Many may come, many may go; he's here to stay; he's a sour-dough."

A few hours were afforded to visit the town of Seward before sailing at 1 o'clock. The sailing had been somewhat delayed by virtue of the fact that two young members of the party had not boarded the train at Anchorage. Unable to make the trip by plane due to clouds suddenly lowering through the mountains, the boat cast off without them, with the expectation that they would follow on another rain, then sail on the S. S. "Yukon" the following day, and meet the party in Juneau five days later.

An early stop on June 12nd, was at the most northern port in the world—Valdez. Some of the group visited the Bourke Museum, the newspaper office, and shops. Many of the homes and other buildings are raised on sturdy stilts bases several feet above the glacial mud which covers the port area, while a long board-walk leads back to the town proper. The highlight of the afternoon was a view of "Columbia Glacier," the ship passing close to this 200-foot high wall of blue ice, which is three miles wide where it enters the sea. With great rumblings did the ice crack and crash into the icy water; and echo of the ship's whistle reverberated for several seconds each time it was sounded. Icebergs, broken off from the huge glacier, floated all about, and a half-hour's stay afforded an experience never to be forgotten.

The early evening brought us to Cordova, where at the docks newsboys presented each with a special edition of the Cordova Daily Times, printed in honor of the guest editors from the States. Visits to the coast guard cutter "Spencer" at this, its home port; hikes to beauty spots; jaunts to the cannery, the airport, and shopping center, afforded pleasant hours for all in this gloriously beautiful town, built on the mountain-side.

Making our way to the reception and public dance in the municipal auditorium planned in our honor, our party was amused by little Geraldine, a nine-year-old resident of Cordova, who unhesitatingly admitted she had never before seen any of the "queer people" from the boat. Her questioners were amazed to find she had not tasted candy, but she seemed to enjoy what was given her. Her naive remarks about certain articles of clothing of both the men and women gave to all an idea of the secluded life led by some of the families. "My mother doesn't allow me to go down town," was the remark of Geraldine which showed why her new friends appeared queer looking in her eyes, and the

Mr. Niklas rose to his feet. "We will discuss that at luncheon. It is one o'clock, now!"

Luncheon? Ought she to refuse? The inhibitions of the sheltered girl swept over her, so that she was on the point of refusal. Then hard necessity informed her it would be a tactical mistake.

In the elevator she took an appraising look at the man it was essential to please.

Not at all the type she would have accepted as an escort in the old days in San Francisco, even had she met him formally! Too sleek, too suave, too—well, foreign, somehow.

Yet one couldn't put one's finger on anything noticeably wrong in manner or appearance. He was immaculately turned out. To some women, doubtless, he would seem handsome, with his neat small features, olive complexion, and snapping black eyes. He had a lithe, slender figure of almost catlike gracefulness, thought Toni. She remembered that in Dave's Blue Room he had had the effect of being poured into his evening suit, so excellently did it fit.

ALASKAN INDIANS EXECUTE FINE BASKETRY

Patiently this Alaskan Indian woman weaves these baskets, carrying on a handicraft handed down from generation to generation. It will take her weeks, perhaps months, to complete her painstaking work on one of these baskets. Editors on the N. E. A. convention cruise to Alaska in June, 1939, found added interest in visiting with the friendly native people and learning of their customs and traditions.

affair held near her section of the town gave her opportunity for a glimpse of those from the "Outside."

Arising Friday morning we found the Gulf of Alaska most smooth, and the weather perfect, the sailing having taken place at 2.30 a. m. From our deck chairs we looked out upon a blue, blue sea and a lighter blue sky flecked with fleecy clouds; while to the North was the St. Elias Range, topped by Mt. St. Elias, more than 18,000 feet above the sea level. For hours this peak, 50 miles inland, and 115 away due to the ship being 65 miles off-shore, was visible. Between the sea-coast and the mountain base stretched the mighty Malaspina Glacier, over 100 miles across. Only through the experience of reclining in a deck-chair and watching such a mighty snow-clad range of peaks pass slowly into view, can one learn of such grandeur of nature. It is not within the power of a human being to describe.

COLUMBIA GLACIER A MAGNIFICENT SIGHT

Columbia Glacier, located in Southwestern Alaska, between Cordova and Valdez, largest glacier in the world visited by ocean-going steamers, was a high point of interest on the N. E. A. convention cruise to Alaska in June, 1939.

WHY WASH ON MONDAYS?

Asks Katharine Fisher

Director, Good Housekeeping Institute

There was a time when wash day was called Blue Monday—and with good reason. It meant getting up at dawn to build the fire, putting the boiler on, wringing out the clothes that had been soaking overnight, and otherwise getting an early start so all the wash would be out on the line by noon. Neighbors vied with each other to see who would finish first.

It was a slow and laborious job, a job for a Cinderella. Breakfast was a hurried meal; lunch a sketchy pickup. The house looked after itself, and the family felt forlorn and neglected.

KATHARINE FISHER
Director of
Good Housekeeping
Institute

Today the magic of modern equipment has eliminated this once-a-week drudgery. There is no stove to stoke, no overnight soaking or boiling of clothes, no washboard scrubbing. The electric washing machine whisks the clothes clean so quickly that it is a simple matter to wash a load or two. Not on Monday alone, but on any other day that seems convenient.

Yet I am sure that in many homes Blue Monday is still observed with the same old-fashioned fervor. Clothes are allowed to pile up all week for this one day. When it arrives, the family is warned to use hot water sparingly. Every effort is made to stretch the hot-water supply so that the week's washing can be done in one forenoon. Two or sometimes three loads of clothes are often put through the same suds and rinsing water. The result is that they are not really washed clean.

Let's throw wash day traditions overboard. Your grandmother and mine had to do all their washing on Monday, just as they did all their baking on Saturday. It was work to build up a rousing fire and keep it going. They had to make full use of it. But those days are gone. Let them go!

Why not do a small washing daily, or two or three times a week, whenever it is convenient? If you plan the week's work ahead, you will find it easy to arrange washing hours that will not upset the family or your household routine. You will find you can wash and rinse the clothes more thoroughly in the way you really want to, because your hot-water supply will not be so overtaxed. You will have clean water for each load. Besides, you will not be overtaxing yourself on any one day of the week. And that's important, too.

Newberg, for an extended visit.

BRISTOL THEATRE

John Carroll and Movita head the cast of Monogram's "Wolf Call," the Jack London story which is now at the Bristol Theatre.

Movita, who recently married Jack Doyle in Mexico, has the role of Towanah, the beautiful Indian maid who achieves the regeneration of playboy Mike Vance, who is John Carroll. Both Carroll and Movita have an opportunity to sing in this picture. One of the most unusual "props"

GRAND THEATRE

In preparation for more than a year, Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Young Mr. Lincoln" is a story that has never been told before.

With simplicity, wit and power, the story carries young Abe through approximately seven years of his youth, the years of his courtship of his first sweetheart, Ann Rutledge; his choice of law as a career (decided by a toss!), his meeting with Mary Todd; his thrilling "moonlight

The original story and screen play of the film, which is scheduled for the Grand Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, was written by Lamar Trotti. Henry Fonda plays the important title role, with Alice Brady, Marjorie Weaver and Arleen Whelan co-featured.

RITZ THEATRE

The man with the most troubles in Hollywood is probably Lew Crowley. He is custodian of several hundred articles, most of which have unpronounceable names. He sets up complicated biological laboratories. He handles microscopes, cardiographs, a myriad of other instruments of the physicians' calling. He even knows how to use most of them.

Crowley is the property man on the "Dr. Kildare" series, second of which, "Calling Dr. Kildare," with Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore, plays today at the Ritz Theatre.

"It's a lot of fun," he remarked while polishing the lenses of a binocular microscope. "There are hundreds of articles to learn about. But the trouble is you can't pronounce their names."

TERRY'S RING FUTURE IS AT STAKE TONIGHT

The ring future of Young Terry, Trenton buzz-saw, will be at stake tonight in the St. Ann's A. A. open arena, Wood and Franklin streets, as he battles Joe Duca, Paulsboro bearcat, in the eight-round wind-up.

Terry is at the cross-roads of his comeback trail. If he wins, he will go out to further seek his fame and fortune. If he is beaten, then he will be compelled to make his own decision as to whether he should leave the ring game or continue.

Interviewed after he left the Keystone Hotel here yesterday, Terry claimed that he is in perfect fettle for the bout and will not have an alibi if defeated by Duca. He has been in training for quite some time and appeared in excellent condition for his fight.

Duca has quite a bit at stake in the tilt. He has been offered a lucrative match in Pittsburgh with Paul Pirrone, that is, if he is successful in getting by Terry. The Paulsboro battler has recently returned from a Western trip and in his last start beat Billy Soose. His manager, Cliff Bent, feels confident that his boy will give Terry a terrific beating.

For the semi-windup, Matchmaker Joe Gruerio has gone through quite a bit of difficulty in booking Larry Mangini, Trenton, with Willie Arceri, Philadelphia. Mangini has already begun his high climb up the pugilistic ladder but may come down a notch if Arceri has one of his punching nights. Arceri is a slugger with plenty of ability and may surprise the Trentonian.

In another six-round bout, Gruerio has matched Gus Kelly, former New Jersey amateur champion, with Nick Rossi, Port Norris. Rossi and Kelly have a feud dating back to their amateur days and have now carried it into the professional ranks. This will be settled tonight.

Lenny Dever, Fourth Ward Bristol boy, will make his professional debut in a local ring when he fights Sammy Azzinaro, Trenton. Dever has been a pro for two years but most of his fighting has been confined to New York State. Since his return to Bristol he fought but once in Trenton and was beaten.

Dever is anxious to show his home folks what he can do since he turned pro and really requested this bout with Azzinaro. The local fight patrons remember Lenny in his amateur bouts, especially the last one with George Lyons when after being floored twice in the first round, came back in the second and third and handed Lyons such a lacing that the final decision wasn't even questionable.

Azzinaro beat Joe Tilly, Trenton, last week, but had difficulty in doing it. Tilly made the mistake of trying to slug it out with the curly-headed boy and thus lost out. Dever claims that after seeing Azzinaro's style of fighting he will beat the Jerseyite.

Sammy Sandori, Trenton, who won his fight in the last show, will face another Philadelphia, Joe Pallone. Sandori is in the midst of a winning streak and hopes to extend it against the Bridesburg fighter. This bout will be a four-rounder.

In the other four-rounder, Hokey Leighton, Croydon, is booked with Carl Schaum, Roebing. This will be a fast bout as both boys have the whirlwind style of swinging, and many fans believe that Leighton will look better in a four-round bout.

The first fight is scheduled to go on at 8.45 p. m. and Promoter Joe Gruerio feels that the local arena will be filled to capacity, judging from the advance sale of tickets.

HARD BATTLE LOST BY A. A. IX TO FREEHOLD

Yesterday the Bristol A. A. lost a hard fought game to Freehold by the score of 3 to 0. Punkie Zefferies hurled good ball until the 4th inning when he walked Brophy and Arnold, the Newark Eagles colored star, only to have Vic Egbert, the Belmar star, to double, scoring two runs.

The Jersey club backed up Champion in airtight fashion. Dick and Vanzant were the battling stars for the A. A. club, while Harrison and Felkner's fielding were features for the A. A. club. Egbert and McGlory hit hard for Freehold.

WILSON SOFTBALL TEAM "WHITEWASHES" APEX

Smashing out base hits from the first inning on, the Wilson softball team whitewashed the Apex Truck Drivers team from Perth Amboy, 17-0, yesterday afternoon on the Wilson field.

The Wilson lads lost no time in scoring as they lashed into Jenkowski's pitching in the first frame to score seven tallies. Jenkowski was tight for awhile but in the eighth, the Bristol boys again pushed over 7 markers. Meanwhile, Charlie Mazzella had his own way on the mound for the Wilson team. Backed by wonderful support from Grimes and Price, DeLuca and Naylor, blanked the Perth Amboy drivers throughout.

Home runs were hit by Naylor, Kondyra and DeFelice, while DeLuca and Farmer had a pair of triples each. For the visiting aggregation, Wisniewski was the outstanding player.

After the tilt, the teams had an out-of-which refreshments were served.

The Wilson team is still open for a few games and would like to hear from teams in this vicinity. Anyone interested is requested to contact John Whittaker at the Wilson plant.

BRISTOL LEGION WINS ITS THIRD STRAIGHT

The Bristol Legion won its third straight game in Legion competition when it defeated Langhorne here Saturday, 10 to 4. Riley pitched a good game until the 7th inning, when Swope relieved him with two runs, two on base and nobody out. Swope then retired the next three hitters. Bristol will play Langhorne again Wednesday evening at Langhorne. Rotundo will pitch, with Mazzillo catching.

BRISTOL NINE WINS

The Bristol team defeated Trenton nine, 12 to 8, yesterday, for its third victory. The runs were scored by Ferrara, Antonelli and Stallone.

ST. FRANCIS MIDGET NINE TOPS ST. VINCENT'S TEAM

EDDINGTON, July 10—Friday, St. Francis Industrial School midget baseball team topped Saint Vincent's Orphanage of Tacony, by the score of 2 to 1. For five cantoes, the tilt was a hurling duel between Albert Katzanian of the locals, and Phillips for the visitors. Each allowed but one run.

In the final stanza, A. Katzanian of St. Francis proved himself not only a diamond twirler, but with a timely hit drove home a fellow-orphan, Captain Mullaney, for the winning run.

Robert Palmore, played his usual game at third, while the fielding of Charles Helmstret was unbeatle.

The Tacony lads played fine ball but could not come through in the pinches.

Campisi, Helmstret, Katzanian, Cupo, Palmore and Mullaney led the winners at the plate, while Phillips, R. Schwarz, Vocklin, Morscher and Volk were the best hitters for the losers.

The Great Game of Politics

known. Not only have the Messrs. Hull, Woodring and Farley shown complete detachment from the "draft Roosevelt" movement engineered by the "intellectual liberals" but, in the latter's view, the Messrs. Hull, Farley and Woodring are conservative men, not fully convinced on the economics of the New Deal and inclined toward orthodox Democracy. All these things happen to be true and it is not surprising the young radicals should regard them with aversion. But it is surprising they should now turn on one of their own number, against whom not one of those complaints could be made—to wit, the impeccable Attorney General, Mr. Frank Murphy.

FOR quite a while after Mr. Murphy took office he was in high favor with the "inner circle." Referred to as the "glamor boy" of the New Deal, he was put forward as the running mate for Mr. Roosevelt's third-term attempt. The purity of his private life was paraded and great stress laid upon his "crusading spirit." In view of all this, the change in the attitude of his New Deal friends is strange.

Instead of inspiring eulogies of the Attorney General, the harshest criticism of him now comes from the very group which originated his Vice-Presidential boom and is promulgated by journalists who habitually reflect its view. For example, it is strongly intimated that as a crusader Mr. Murphy is a "bust," and it has been flatly stated in print, among other things, that he is making too many speeches; hopping about the country too much; that Washington and New York "society" have gone to his head, that he is obsessed with his own publicity; is running too hard for the Vice-Presidency; ought to come back and get on his job.

THIS is really a shocking blast to come from his side of the fence. From time to time men on the other side have spoken somewhat in this vein, but when highly placed New Dealers thus assail one of themselves it seems to call for an explanation. Two are offered. One is that the overtheights manner and high-powered publicity of Mr. Murphy really have created irritation. The other is that Mr. Murphy's recent speech, in which he urged a twenty-five per cent. reduction in the Federal pay roll and inveighed against the vast size and cost of the Federal bureaucracy, gave grave offense. It is true that just before he spoke Mr. Murphy had made a place for Ex-Senator J. Thomas Hefflin. It is also true that he has found jobs for a good many of Mr. Corcoran's young men, and is generally "amenable to reason" in patronage matters. But none of these things, it is held, excuse a speech pointing out how much money can be saved by removing useless jobholders. It might have been made by Senator Byrd, of Virginia.
